

Exploring Possibilities!

Journeying Through Career-Related Learning in Grades 4–6

A Teaching Toolkit

Lorraine Godden, Nicki Moore,
Heather Nesbitt & Stefan Merchant

Table of Contents

Introducing the Authors	8
Acknowledgments	10
Preface	11
Why this teaching toolkit?	12
Who is this teaching toolkit for?	13
How to interact with this teaching toolkit?	13
A note on resources, links, and URLs	14
Our hopes for this toolkit	15
Chapter 1: Introduction	17
CERIC’s Two Strategic mandates	18
Aims of this teaching toolkit	18
Underpinning research and evidence	19
Summary of key findings from previous research	19
Our research study of career-related learning in grades 4–6	20
Key findings from our study	21
When do educators feel that should career-related learning should begin?	22
When do pre-service teachers feel that should career-related learning should begin?	22
When do students feel that should career-related learning should begin?	22
When do parents feel that should career-related learning should begin?	23
What to expect from this toolkit	24
Chapter 2: Talking About Career	25
Exploring the possibilities: What is this chapter about?	25
Why should I be reading this chapter?	25
Planning and packing for the journey: What do I need to be thinking about?	26
Career: A complex term	26
Conceptualizing and visualizing career: A lifespan perspective	27
Using metaphors to visualize career	28
Understanding additional career-related vocabulary and terminology	30
Moving beyond colonialist understandings of career	30
Key findings from our study	30
What does the term “career” mean to educators?	31
How are grade 4 to 6 educators teaching about careers?	31
What does the term “career” mean to pre-service teachers?	31
What does the term “career” mean to students in grades 4–6?	31
Who do grade 4 to 6 students talk to about careers? What jobs do they talk about?	32
What does the term “career” mean to parents?	32
What do parents report about the jobs their children talk about?	33
		Experiencing the journey: How does this chapter come to life in my classroom?	34
		Implications for practice	34
		What words and ideas do students need to learn?	34
		When should we have career conversations with elementary students?	36
		What opportunities are there for students to develop their understanding and application of career-related terms?	37
		Example activities for you to think about	38
		Activity: Careers Terminology Music Quiz	39
		Activity: Developing metaphors (adapted from Metaphor Making by Norm Amundson)	40
		Activity: Drawing a career	41
		Activity: Exploring career-related terms with Frayer Diagrams	43
		Evaluating the journey: How do I know this is worthwhile?	44
		Journey reflections: Key takeaways	44
		Chapter 3: Nurturing and Developing Foundational Skills	47
		Exploring the possibilities: What is this chapter about?	47
		Why should I be reading this chapter?	48
		Planning and packing for the journey: What do I need to be thinking about?	48
		What are foundational skills?	48
		What skills should be developed in elementary school?	48
		What skills should I focus on in my classroom?	55
		Experiencing the journey: How does this chapter come to life in my classroom?	56
		Nurturing and developing skills with intention	56
		Valuing play as an opportunity for skill development	57
		Student self-assessment	57
		Teacher Assessment	59
		Key findings from our study	62
		Example activities for you to think about	64
		Activity: Matching Game	65
		Activity: Co-creating a Skills Rubric	66
		Activity: Show-Off Your skills!	68
		Evaluating the journey: How do I know this is worthwhile?	70
		Journey reflections: Key takeaways	70
		Chapter 4: It Takes a Village! A Collaborative and Community-Based Approach	71
		Exploring the possibilities: What is this chapter about?	71
		Why should I be reading this chapter?	71
		Planning and packing for the journey: What do I need to be thinking about?	72
		Who are the partners?	72
		What do we mean by communities?	74
		Making the case for collaborative approaches	75
		Key findings from our study	75
		Support for career-related learning from parents	75
		Support for career-related learning from business and industry partners	76

Experiencing the journey: How does this chapter come to life in my classroom?	78	Provincial Career Development Frameworks	109
Scanning the landscape	78	Did you know? New Brunswick: preK–12 Career Development Framework	110
Creating a vision	78	Did you know? British Columbia: Framework for Enhancing Student Learning	111
Checking your target groups have the experience and skills that they need	79	Career Development Organizations and Associations	112
Developing a program of support	80	Did you know? Canadian Council for Career Development (CCCD)	112
Identifying curriculum opportunities	80	Did you know? CERIC	112
Example activities for you to think about	80	Did you know? Canadian Career Development Foundation (CCDF)	113
Activity: Community Café	81	Labour Market Information (LMI)	114
Activity: Doing Something Big	82	Did you know? Labour Market Information Council (LMIC)	114
Activity: Talks from people about their jobs	83	Key findings from our study	115
Activity: Mini enterprise activity	85	Resources to support teachers	115
Activity: Scavenger Hunt	85	Resources to support learning at home	115
Evaluating the journey: How do I know this is worthwhile?	86	Experiencing the journey: How does this chapter come to life in my classroom?	116
Journey reflections: Key takeaways from this chapter	87	Example activities for you to think about	116
Chapter 5: Curriculum Support for Career-Related Learning	89	Activity: What types of industries and businesses are there in our community?	117
Exploring the Possibilities: What is this chapter about?	89	Activity: Stepping Stones	118
Why should I be reading this chapter?	89	Activity: Jobs of the future	119
Planning and packing for the journey: What do I need to be thinking about?	90	Activity: What is changing?	121
British Columbia	90	Evaluating the journey: How do I know this is worthwhile?	122
How can the BC curriculum help me?	91	Journey Reflections: Key takeaways	122
Ontario	91	Chapter 7: Concluding the Teaching Toolkit Journey	123
How can the Ontario curriculum help me?	92	Reflecting on our learning	123
Alberta	93	Career-related learning aligns to the teaching and learning mission	123
How can the Alberta curriculum help me?	95	Career-related learning matters	123
Saskatchewan	96	Delivering effective career-related learning is an ongoing journey	123
How can the Saskatchewan curriculum help me?	96	Concluding thoughts	124
Québec	98	References	125
How can the Québec curriculum help me?	99	Appendix A: Skills Cards (for Matching Game)	130
Experiencing the journey: How does this chapter come to life in my classroom?	99	Appendix B: Experience Cards (for Matching Game)	132
Evaluating the journey: How do I know this is worthwhile?	100	Appendix C: Fundamental Skills (for Show-Off Your Skills)	134
Journey reflections: Key takeaways from this chapter	100	Appendix D: Research Study Numbers of Participants (n)	136
Chapter 6: Career-Related Learning Within the Career Development Field	103	Praise for Exploring Possibilities! Journeying Through Career-Related Learning in Grades 4–6	137
Exploring the possibilities: What is this chapter about?	103
Why should I be reading this chapter?	103
Planning and packing for the journey: What do I need to be thinking about?	104
Did you know? Supporting Canadians to Navigate Learning and Work Project	104
Did you know? The CMEC Reference Framework for Successful Student Transitions	106
Regional Sources of Support	107
Did You Know? Future in Focus: Atlantic Career Development Framework for Public Education (2015–2020)	107
Did You Know? Careers Atlantic Canada	109		